How to log in

To view the church member forums you'll need to log in. This means the forums are kept secure, just for us.

To log in first visit this page: <https://stpetersbirstall.co.uk/login/>

You'll see this:

- Lost your password?

Type in your email address and your password.

If you're on your own computer, phone or tablet you can tick the 'Remember' me box. This will make the website remember who you are so you don't have to type in your email address and password as often.

Please do not tick the 'Remember me' box if you are on a computer that other people use, for example a computer in a library or at school.

If you've forgotten your password please click the 'Lost your password' link. You'll be able to reset your password (there's a different help document about that).
